CHASED BY MAD DOGS.

HAIRBREADTH ESCAPE OF A CLUB
MAN AND HIS BEST GIRL.

A Yarn Which Goes to Prove That Barking Dogs Do Bite Sometimes—Still Some Savage Brutes Don't Waste Much Time in Barking When Out for Blood.

No one had spoken at the club for about an hour when a raconteur rose to the occasion. Laying aside his pipe with a look of regret he began:

"It's a popular saying that barking dogs don't bite. Like other popular sayings this is a fallacy and misleading.
Barking dogs do not bite while they are barking, but there is only one species of canine that sneaks up to you and takes hold without saying a word. That is the Scotch collie, which inherits its habit of silent biting from a sheep nipping ancestry."

"Story! story!" called out the president.

"Story? God bless you! I have none to tell, sir," quoted the raconteur, remembering his classics; "this is only a memory of two dogs, accursed brutes, that lived with an unfriendly man on a hill, over which the postroad was laid.

This man, who was a Cain among his fellows, kept two savage mastiffs, who not only barked but bit whenever it was possible. I was courting my first wife up there in the Cumberland mountains in British North America where this happened, and had to pass the house regularly. I drove a blooded mare that was like a bird, and the dogs were no match for her, but it was very annoying to have them follow me down the hill for a mile or more barking and yelping like demons. They would bark at the stage coaches and run long distances after them, but the passengers were safe inside and the driver and those on the outside were too high for them to reach.

But I heard frequent stories of their attacking men, and being beaten off with sticks and stones. I asked why they were not killed and my answer was always the same, a shrug of the shoulders and the remark: 'You don't know the kind of man their owner is.' It seemed that he lived alone with his dogs, and people feared him so much they dare not go to him to complain or call in the provincial laws to help them.

A TERRIBLE CHASE.

"A crisis came, when one day I took my sweetheart out for a sleigh ride in a low pung belonging to her father, to which was harnessed my own sure and swift footed mare. It was a lovely day and we expected to make a safe and rapid descent of the mountain, a distance of ten or twelve miles. The air was crisp and cold, the sleighing fine, and we skipped up the ascent and reached the landing before we knew we had started.
There we were met by the dogs. I think it would have been less difficult to have gotten rid of a pair of wolves. I dare not give my mare her head going down that long, steep declivity from frozen snow, and the dogs, emboldened by the cold or maddened by repeated lashings from my whip, jumped at my companion and tore her cloak and her dress in mouthfuls. I clubbed with my whip and beat them on the head, but they did not even seem to feel my blows.
Their great black and yellow frames quivered with ferocity. The hair on their backs stood up like manes; their eyeballs gleamed red and angry, and the noise they made was deafening and distracting.

"Oh! I exclaimed, 'why haven't I a pistol?'

"Look in the box under the seat," cried my companion, whose face was blanched.

"I looked quickly, and found a rusty double barreled horse pistol of a make of forty years ago.

"Is it loaded?" I asked.

"Yes, but don't shoot. If you do that man will kill you!"

TWO SHOTS FIXED THEM.

"I remember thinking how like a woman it was to tell me where to find the pistol and then ask me not to shoot.

"I laid the reins loose on the mare's back and away she went like the wind, beyond my control now, and I knew she would never stop till she was a mile beyond the level ground at the foot of the hill.

"If the pung held together; if nothing made the mare swerve from the direct line; if, in fact—if Providence kept an eye on us, and the breeching didn't break, we might escape breaking our necks. I looked back and saw the dogs gaining on us, even at that mad gallop—then I took aim and fired. Bang! Bang!
There were two dark objects lying prone on the snowy road, and as quick as she could gather her feet under her my mare stopped in her tracks. She was trained to the use of a gun.

"But my companion urged me to hurry on, and we were soon down the incline and beyond the reach of recognition or pursuit, and strange to say no one but our two selves ever knew who killed those dogs. We heard the most marvelous accounts of the slaughter, the weapon varying from a Queen Anne musket to a cannon, but dead they were as door nails, and their reign of terror over. I imagine their owner did not care to venture out to avenge their death. I drove boldly past the house every day, but was never molested or even suspected. But I often heard their unknown slayer praised and applauded for the deed which rid the neighborhood of their hateful presence."—Detroit Free Press.

"German Syrup"

For Coughs & Colds.

John F. Jones, Edom, Tex., writes: I have used German Syrup for the past six years, for Sore Throat, Cough, Colds, Pains in the Chest and Lungs, and let me say to anyone wanting such a medicine—German Syrup is the best.

B. W. Baldwin, Carnesville, Tenn., writes: I have used your German Syrup in my family, and find it the best medicine I ever tried for coughs and colds. I recommend it to everyone for these troubles.

R. Schmalhausen, Druggist, of Charleston, Ill., writes: After trying scores of prescriptions and preparations I had on my files and shelves, without relief for a very severe cold, which had settled on my lungs, I tried your German Syrup. It gave me immediate relief and a permanent cure.

BREVITIES.

Colonel J. A. Hardin spent yesterday in Reno.

Mrs. R. W. Farry left last night for California.

H. Hopgood, of Long Valley, Cal., is in town.

R. L. Fulton returned yesterday from San Francisco.

Wanted a woman to do housework. See 50-cent. column.

L. L. Crockett came down from Lake Tahoe last night.

The members of Amity Lodge, No. 8, K. of P., will meet this evening.

W. D. O. Gibson, of the Stewart Institute, arrived in Reno last night.

Governor R. K. Colcord and wife were passengers for San Francisco last night.

A young lady wants to do dressmaking or plain sewing. See 50-cent. column.

Judge Rising arrived yesterday from San Francisco and proceeded south on the V. & T. train.

E. H. Grippen, representing Bonstell & Co., paper dealers, San Francisco, visited Reno yesterday.

Four carloads of fat hives, shipped from Deeth by William Smiley, were unloaded here yesterday to feed.

There was a new moon on the last instant and there will be another on the 30th instant. It is not often that December can boast of two new moons.

The White House is receiving goods daily. They have an immense stock of clothing, gents furnishing goods boots and shoes and are doing a rushing business.

The fair weather flag was displayed at the State University yesterday. The meteorological observer must have taken his cue from the Gazette weather service.

The Austin Advocate says there is considerable excitement over the Cottonwood mines in Churchill county. Several of which are about sold to Eastern capitalists.

Henry Fulham, an experienced cattleman, has been appointed superintendent of Miller & Lux's Pinto Valley and Blackrock ranches in Humboldt county, vice J. G. Holloway, resigned.

Reed Brothers, who some time since drove 10,000 sheep here from Oregon, yesterday sold 4,000 head of fat weathers to Gifford & Co., of Oakland, Cal., at 10 cents per pound, delivered at San Francisco.

In the face of the Gazette weather service, it rained yesterday afternoon and snowed last evening. The clerk of the weather evidently does not disclose his intentions to some of the Reno weather prophets.

The mangled body of a man was found on the railroad track near Toano Tuesday morning. The coroner's jury found that it was the body of Frank Jules, a native of Boston, formerly a private in Troop B, Fifth Cavalry.

St. Paul, Minn., will build no more ice palaces. They loved to create the impression that the climate is uncongenial, just as pictures of Mount Shasta when circulated in the East create the impression that it must be extremely cold in California.

The Silver State says 500 head of beef cattle belonging to Pete French arrived at Winnemucca Wednesday for shipment.

The Miller & Lux cattle from White Horse, Oregon, are being shipped from Winnemucca at the rate of a train load a day.

E. Reinhardt & Co. have contracted to build an armory for the Humboldt Guards at Winnemucca in accordance with plans and specifications drawn up by R. F. Hoy, of Reno. The building will be 100 feet by thirty-eight feet, so says the Silver State.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company paid its taxes yesterday amounting to $18,059.52. A good stretch of railroad at this season of the year is not a bad thing to have in a county, at least County Treasurer Boyd is of that opinion.

The fine mansion of Mrs. J. W. Mackay in Paris is to be sold December 13. The starting price is one million and a half francs, and the site alone is said to be worth the money. Here is a chance for some of the mill owners, who have become rich at the expense of the stockholders, to invest some of their loose change.

Rev. Father Ivan Orloff, of the Russian Greek Church, of San Francisco, arrived here yesterday, and baptized in accordance with the rites and usages of the Orthodox Greek Church, Olga, the seven-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spiro Franco-ovich. The event was celebrated by a christening feast at the residence of the child's parents to which many friends were invited.

Charles Gulling received a telegram yesterday afternoon from P. Henry at Nevada City, Cal., saying that the contest of the will of the late Elie Ellen was unanimously decided in favor of the contestants. This virtually gives the property to the three grandchildren, James Ellen Henry, aged 17, John Regil, aged 7, and Joseph Saunders, Jr., aged 5 years. The estate is valued at from $50,000 to $80,000, consisting of property situated in and around Truckee, Cal.

WEATHER REVIEW FOR NOVEMBER

Department of Agriculture, Division of the Pacific, R. E. Kerkam, Chief.

There were seven areas of low pressure that moved toward or developed on the Pacific slope during November, 1891, and that affected the weather of the section west of the Rockies.

DISTURBANCES.

The month opened with wet weather, in Washington, Oregon, Northern California and Nevada, and with a disturbance developing on the upper Pacific Coast that proved to be one of the worst storms of the month, the barometer falling to 29.3 at Tatoosh Island by the morning of the 2d and the wind attaining a maximum velocity of sixty miles per hour on the upper coast. This depression continued to haunt the upper coast until the 5th, when there was a clearing of the storm conditions. On the evening of the 8th a second disturbance appeared, advancing toward the upper coast, and had passed to Eastern Washington by the morning of the 9th, and gave the heaviest rains to the Washington Coast of any disturbance during the month. On the evening of the 10th a disturbance developed in Southern California that continued in that region for several days and only disappeared entirely by the morning of the 15th. On the 17th a storm advanced toward the upper coast and gave general rains to Oregon, Washington and the northern portion of Northern California, and passed eastward to Manitoba by the 18th. On the 19th another disturbance manifested itself north of Washington by rains and high winds on the Washington coast, and this passed eastward by the morning of the 20th. On the 26th a disturbance passed eastward north of Washington. On the 28th a storm advanced toward British Columbia from the ocean that developed into one of the most severe and protracted storms of the month by the 30th, giving general rains to Washington, Oregon and Northern California and snow to the mountain regions of those sections.

PRECIPITATION

Fell on every day during the month in Washington; twenty-seven days in Oregon; on fourteen days in Northern California; on six days in Nevada, and on six days in Utah. Snow was reported from Oregon on the 12th and 15th; from Washington on the 18th and Nevada on the 10th, 13th and 20th.

TEMPERATURE

The weather averaged warmer than usual in November in all districts west of the Rockies. In Washington and Oregon the monthly mean temperature ranged from 3 to 6 degrees above the normal except at Baker City, where it was but one degree above; in California it was from 2 to 6 degrees above, being 4 degrees above in Northern California; in Nevada, Utah and Arizona it was from 6 to 7 degrees above.

RAINFALL RECORDS.

On the Washington and Northern Oregon coasts there is an average of over 10 inches of rainfall in December, which at some places, Neah Bay in particular, reaches over 15 inches. There is a record of over 27 inches of rain in December, 1893, at Neah Bay, and nearly 25 inches at Astoria in 1897. In Eastern Washington and Oregon, east of the Cascade range, the December rains do not average more than from 2 to 4 inches. The heavy condensation near the coast is due to the generally strong south winds blowing into the low area storms that advance toward the upper coast over the Japan current, and also to the meeting of this wind current that coming down the straits and to the two ocean streams that wash the outlying peninsula of Washington.
